

All-On-4

It is in edentulous cases where clinicians can have the biggest impact on patient quality of life today. Precision Dental presents the All-on-4® treatment concept. All-on-4® provides edentulous and soon-to-be edentulous patients with a fixed full-arch prosthesis on four implants on the day of surgery.

Restored chewing ability, clear speech, and high aesthetics and comfort top the list of attributes that can help drive patient acceptance. Above all, the combination of these benefits leads to a life-improving result: the return of a patient's self-confidence.

In 2012, those aged 65 years or older accounted for fourteen percent of the USA's population—approximately 43 million people. During the next four decades, this older population is projected to increase very quickly. By 2050, its size will reach over 80 million.

While these demographics represent a formidable challenge for dental professionals, they also provide an incredible opportunity for the well-prepared. Call Ian Johnson at Precision Dental Laboratories and ask how we can deliver chairside conversions on the day of surgery.
